

SCHOOL
ANNUAL REPORT
2025-26

The teacher development program conducted at the beginning of the academic year proved to be highly impactful in strengthening new learning practices and pedagogical approaches. Over the course of the week, teachers engaged in meaningful interactions with experienced trainers who introduced contemporary methods of teaching, focusing on student-centered learning, inquiry-based approaches, and effective classroom management.

A key highlight of the program was the school visit, which provided teachers with a real-time understanding of how innovative strategies are implemented in actual classroom settings. Observing these practices helped bridge the gap between theory and practice, making the learning more concrete and relatable.

The sessions also emphasized reflective teaching, differentiated instruction, and the integration of skills such as critical thinking and collaboration into everyday lessons. Teachers were encouraged to rethink traditional methods and adopt more engaging and inclusive approaches tailored to diverse learners.

Overall, the one-week faculty development program served as an eye-opener, equipping teachers with fresh perspectives, practical strategies, and renewed confidence to enhance the teaching-learning process. It laid a strong foundation for continuous professional growth and meaningful classroom transformation.

With New Horizon Connect, the first day at New Horizon International School was a joyful blend of excitement, warmth, and fresh starts. From morning rituals and heartfelt classroom moments to the principal's inspiring address, gratitude reflections, energizing Zumba, and team bonding activities — the day set a positive, purposeful tone for the year ahead.

As part of a meaningful beginning to the academic year, our students visited the ISKCON Temple, where they had the opportunity to listen to an insightful speech that offered wisdom, inspiration, and a deeper understanding of spiritual values. The serene atmosphere and powerful words helped students connect with the divine energy, encouraging mindfulness, gratitude, and purpose. This soulful experience set a positive tone for the year ahead, filling young hearts with peace, focus, and the blessings of the Almighty as they embark on their academic journey.

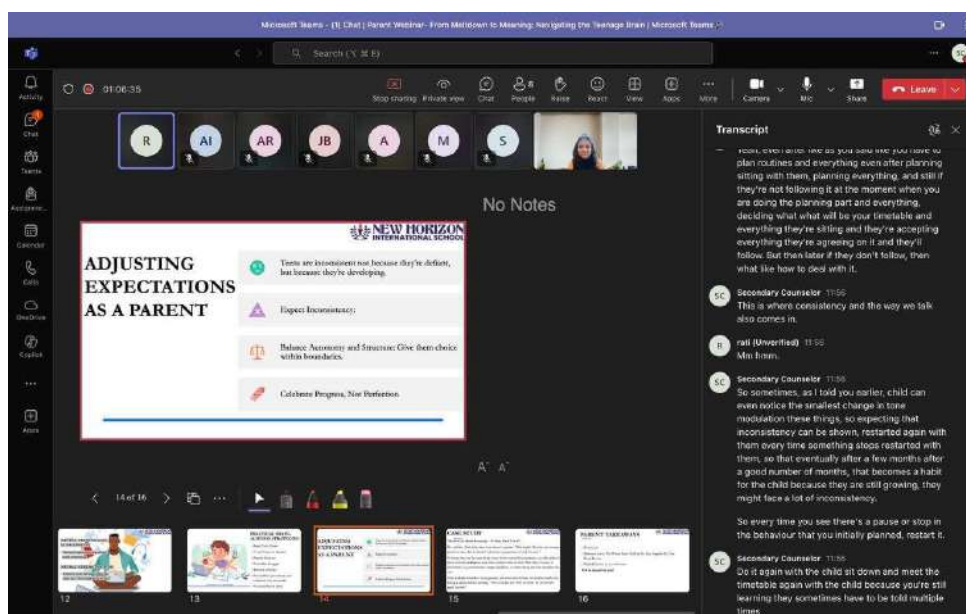

The student elections held to appoint the Head Boy and Head Girl were a vibrant and meaningful exercise in democracy within the school community. The entire process—from nominations and campaigning to voting—reflected the true spirit of democratic participation and responsibility. Students actively engaged in the process, thoughtfully evaluating candidates based on their ideas, leadership qualities, and vision for the school. The candidates, in turn, demonstrated confidence and commitment as they presented their plans and connected with their peers. The voting process was conducted in a fair and transparent manner, ensuring that every student had a voice. This not only made the elections credible but also instilled a sense of ownership and accountability among the student body.
